Zhejiang University - ZJU-UIUC Institute

Postdoctoral positions are available at Zhejiang University on transport system and environment, modelling and optimisation of connected and autonomous vehicles. This is linked to a joint research program between Zhejiang University in China and University Illinois at Urbana Champaign (UIUC) in US.

This is a two-years postdoctoral position. Successful applicants will conduct collaborative research under the supervision of faculties from both Zhejiang University and UIUC. It is expected that successful applicants will work for one year at the ZJU-UIUC institute (Haining, China) and one year at UIUC (Illinois, US). Individuals with outstanding academic ability and outcome in the program will have the opportunity to be considered for a faculty position at Zhejiang University.

Salary range:

RMB 250,000 - 370,000 (equivalent to £27,000 - £40,000 )

Housing subsidized by the university, tax-refund (for a non-Chinese citizen) and other fringe benefits.

Requirement:

Applicants for this position are expected to have a PhD degree in Engineering, Computer Science or Mathematics, or be close to obtaining a PhD (or equivalent) for appointment at Research Assistant level. Candidates should demonstrate excellent academic performance and great potential for research development.

The successful applicants will be hosted at the Transport Systems & Environment Laboratory led by Dr Simon Hu < <https://person.zju.edu.cn/en/simonhu> > at Zhejiang University and at Civil and Environmental Engineering Department at UIUC respectively.

The search process will continue until positions are filled. Application materials should include a complete curriculum vitae, statement of research, the names of three or more references (one from your PhD supervisor), and certificates of education experiences. Submit applications to simonhu@zju.edu.cn and zjuhr@zju.edu.cn.
